Your responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

- Lead the implementation and adoption of the enterprise data strategy framework across departments
- Develop and execute a change management strategy to support data-related transformations and initiatives.
- Provide training and support to increase data literacy within the organization, including the development of educational materials
- Collaborate with Data Owners, Data Quality Managers, Data Stewards and other stakeholders to ensure alignment of data-related goals
- Ensure alignment between data strategy, data architecture, data models, and business needs in collaboration with Data Architects
- Act as a point of contact for resolving issues related to data management practices and changes
- Communicate effectively with both technical and non-technical stakeholders to explain the business impact of data governance decisions

Essential Requirements:

- Bachelor's degree in Business or a related field is required; a Master's degree is a plus
- Proven experience in data strategy or enterprise data management roles
- Scrum certification or extensive experience working in Scrum or Agile environments is essential. Ability to lead or collaborate within agile teams to deliver data solutions
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills, with the ability to collaborate effectively across various departments and organizational levels
- Experience in gathering business requirements and translating them into technical requirements for engineering and data teams

- Ability to design and run training workshops
- Understand and drive Change Management

Desirable requirements:

- Experience in managing large-scale data transformation projects across multiple functions
